

Natal Chart of Bruce Willis by Smart-horoscope.com - Part 1

Go back to Natal Chart order Web page

Interpretation of the personality

Bruce Willis

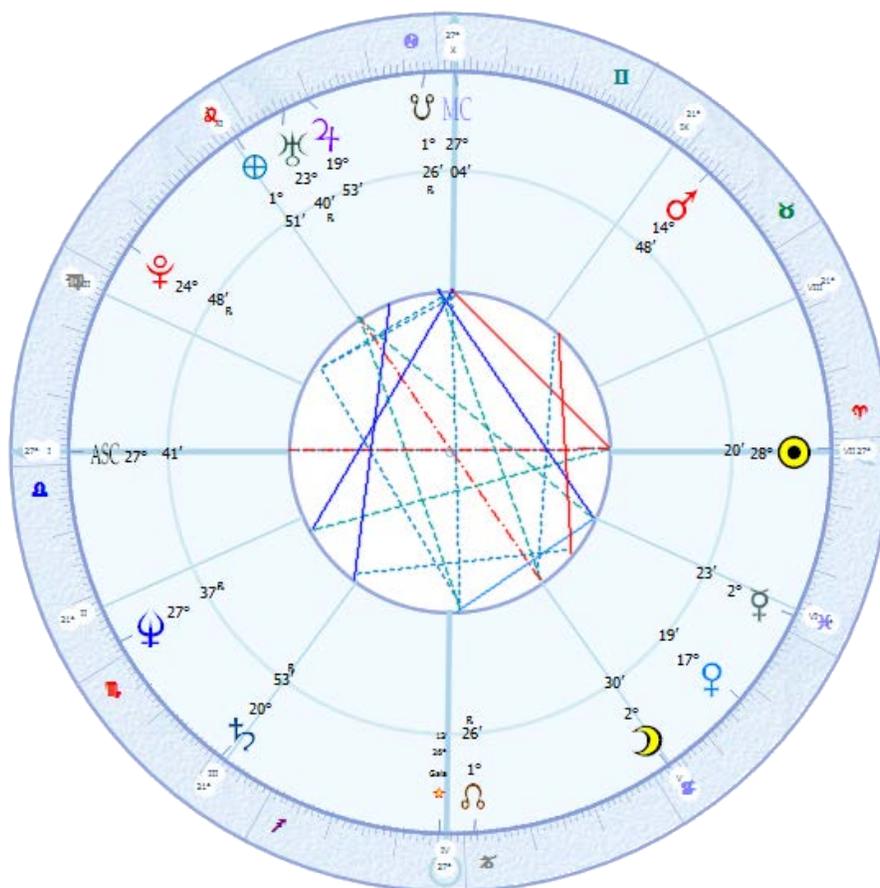

Saturday 19/03/1955 18:32:00

Idar-Oberstein, Germany

49° N 42' 0" 7° E 19' 0" Dec -01h 00m

Distinctive signs

Bruce Willis is Pisces Ascendant in Virgo, with the Moon in Aquarius (tropical zodiac)

Warning

Entering into the heart of the subject, otherwise said, Bruce Willis, the reader finds a part of his life, existing or latent, always personal. These words are not judgements : they propose a thought process. " The stars influence, but are not deciding factors", said Ptolome the alexandian around the year 140. Yes free will exists, even if this is conditioned by the world we live in. He must take advantage of this free will, as it is this that allows him to evolve and to progress. Signs are neither good or bad, they simply mark out the territories on which we evolve. The stars will push him towards a contradiction, and in the end, it is he who decides his future.

Certain techniques used here need a precise hour of birth. In certain cases, five minutes can be sufficient to fix the climate of his existence. If twins can have quite different lives, this shows that a few minutes can bring profound differences, on a case by case basis. He must not take fear at the texts that follow, but take inspiration in one objective, live a full and enriching life.

The essential elements of the chart

A calculation of the dominants of his astral chart shows a personality that is potentially strong. What does a strong personality mean? That his mind dominates and that this determines his choices. His instincts are not handicaps, as his conscience wants to dominate daily influences. Put simply, Bruce Willis does what he wants.

The most important of the four elements

The most sensitive and emotive of the four elements is the type Water. Because of this, the exterior world and the entourage can strongly influence Bruce Willis. A great capacity of integration, a nature of not taking care of things, pushes him to adopt what comes from the exterior. One can see rapidly with whom he has spoken or what he has seen or read. The type Water, as soon as he is in confidence, is predisposed to tell and to express his emotions, because his personality can be diluted in emotion depending on the circumstances. Irrational fears and the blues flow, depending on the cases. He is someone who is very sensitive and it is for this that he motors so much when he fights with others or tries to change the ambient climate. Depending on his point of view, it is inconceivable that others do not accept his values, which he judges to be good or bad. Sentiments are not measured externally. One cannot divine their depth. This is why he can be hurt when others do not react as he wishes. Because of the contents of his sentiments, Bruce Willis can be embarrassed when he has to express what he feels. He can want to compensate in diverse ways, be it through authoritarianism, arrogance, futility or pride. Those that gravitate in his entourage feel a climate of oppression. He is not necessarily responsible.

The most important of the twelve houses: X

The life of Bruce Willis is driven by the desire to achieve something. He is looking for a consideration. He wants to take his life in hand and do something. He can be ambitious or seek to remain free and independent. He may want to achieve what he has in mind, no matter if he has the power or not, the important thing is to do what he wants. He can move up and make his place in his world. At worst, his ambition can push others to walk, unless his objectives imprison him. He wants to expand his consciousness, but the goals he fixes can sometimes lead this. He seeks something exceptional, he would like to be an example or leave a trace of his passage on Earth. If he can be lonely at times, he must not forget that the most important thing that drives him in life is his conscience.

His way of thinking

The state of mind of Bruce Willis is concrete, straight, realist and materialist, without the sense of these adjectives being derogatory. He would like to be surer and more foolproof. He likes constancy.

Bruce Willis is someone positive and even if his I.Q. is high, he knows how to remain accessible. He simplifies and finds adequate solutions, without denigrating anyone. The planet renders him neither anxious nor pessimistic.

The supple character of Bruce Willis allows him to slide into numerous situations. He knows how to feel well, and his affective and familial experiences show in his way of thinking. He doesn't really go for reality, and prefers to talk to people who have similar ideas and values as he does. He takes on easily the sentiments of others and catches the nuances.

Bruce Willis is from a certain side very positive, he knows perfectly how to round out the edges to preserve unity and harmony. His sense of values is excellent, he knows how to cajole, seduce, and he can do his best for that. He possesses a built in sense of ideal behaviour for any situation. His judicious way of thinking allows him to give the adequate response, which allows him to say things openly without upsetting anyone. It motivates him to profit from the situation. On the relational level, he knows how to recognize the best in others and to bring this out.

The state of mind of Bruce Willis makes him someone easy to live with. Not pushy, seeking harmony and good taste, artist, Bruce Willis seeks more to facilitate his existence than anything else. Sensual, he likes everything that brings him sensations : music, pleasures of the table and of the flesh. Quite a good talker, he likes to seduce and to captivate others. He gives the best of himself when he loves something or someone.

Bruce Willis has a very emotive state of mind. He disperses his emotions and his energy, which pushes him to see the worst, and that can irritate others. He can get excited for nothing, too easily served by his sentiments and instincts. His blowing up, even if it is not based on nastiness, does him no good, because he never gets to the end of things. He has perhaps not the appropriate attitude.

Bruce Willis does not have a state of mind that is crazy and extrovert, but he is positive. He is rather meticulous, rigorous, attentive and posed, because he detests surprises that are not desired. He is rather responsible, because he does not fear work. He is wary of all that can screw up his plans, which allows him to achieve a considerable amount of work. He likes to learn and he considers erudite people to be indispensable to their world. He does not like superficiality. If he can be a bit belated, his erudition is great. He has the capacities.

The affective life

On the relational level, Bruce Willis lacks self confidence, which can play some games with him. A certain dependence floats in the air, his or that of his partner. He can flee through fear or let himself be absorbed by the other. One could say that he is hiding something, unless his illusions take him where he does not want to go. His attitude, a little too detached and impersonal, can derange his partner. He just cannot say no in a simple and direct way, through fear of hurting the other.

One appreciates Bruce Willis more than he estimates others. He easily centralises others around him. He likes to shine during evenings out or in receptions. He knows how to give an effect, he needs to be useful, if not indispensable, and he needs to feel important. The ideal is often a deception as it is placed too high. He has difficulty finding a level of equality with others. But he will know how to find good people, because he does not lack resources.

Professional life

The jobs that captivate Bruce Willis are those where one teaches, explains, learns, educates and where communication is queen, those where an exchange of ideas prevail and those where interviews, talks and other discussions are king. Journalism, information and education, amongst others, reply to these criteria.

Deception can intervene, sooner or later, on the professional level. Bruce Willis should be careful, because this planet is involved in big changes or a reorientation. He should be prudent and adopt the most productive solution in order to limit the damage, and to use it if need be.

On the professional level, Bruce Willis has problems of communication. His curiosity and his ideas are not lived at the same level as others. It seems useless to explain himself, or his colleagues say things that bother him. He is not made for a metier in relation to business, commerce or administration, or those involved in writings. By avoiding to take things too literally, and in fleeing vanity and soft options, he can fix this embarrassment.

On the professional level, Bruce Willis does not have an adequate attitude. He doesn't feel loved. One could say that he seeks to give pleasure, but sets about it poorly. Or he is too kind, or too tough, but his comportment is not always appropriate for the situations. He does not know what reaction to choose. He does not know how to seduce, arrange or charm. He has to take care not to let small displeasures ruin his days, if he does he will regret it. In the case that eventual affairs of the heart are linked to work, these will become a source of deceptions.

On the professional level, Bruce Willis has problems linked to his energy and his capacity to take decisions. He must avoid all forms of rivalry, of jealousy, of vindictiveness or professional competition, because he is not made for that, and it can turn against him, through his fault or not. His emotiveness has to be controlled, because this is a source of problems. If problems are present, it is important that he be able to relax, if not he will have trouble concentrating his energy.

The most important planets

(Sun)

Bruce Willis is an intelligent person, capable of taking in at a glance a global situation, and to see at once the practical consequences. He is not a theoretician but an achiever.

In reality, he lacks assurance. He hides this by an attitude that is sometimes arrogant, in fact "that it is not said that...". He risks during his life to miss certain things that could be profitable to him, simply because he is looking for an ideal that does not exist. His personality is often a little superior, showing a protecting image, that is generally benevolent and friendly. But as soon as his image is touched, he barricades himself behind a wall of indifference. He is afraid of not getting to the end of his enterprises following a bad evaluation of the possibilities.

The world of sentiments is delicate, with him. Even though he is a big sentimental, his ideal is sometimes too high and he rarely finds what he is seeking. Things would go better when he starts taking others for what they are and not for an ideal, as if not, the result will be mediocre. Those that are under the influence of the Moon or Venus suit him perfectly, as they will admire and support him during his blue periods. He likes to let himself be loved. He is not necessarily faithful in marriage, since he places himself a little above ordinary morals.

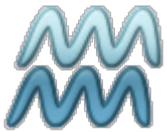

From a financial point of view, he should take care to not spend uniquely for "the façade". His situation, brilliant in appearance, is not always solid ; one error suffices ♦ that he fears ♦ for a fall. Watch out for speculations.

The Aquarius is the most important sign

One should not confound dominant sign and solar sign. The solar sign is that where the Sun is found at one's birth. The dominant sign is that which will impose itself upon the conscience of Bruce Willis, in the course of his existence.

This sign is determined by the planet that directs, not the sign, but the constellation of the Ascendant.

(Aquarius)

Bruce Willis has a nature that is very independent, sometimes overly independent. His temperament can be both very deep and more superficial. He would like to be freer. He manifests himself spontaneously. Intelligent and extremist, he enjoys debating and struggling to escape, in his view, from anything resembling a chain. He says what he thinks, regardless of different sensitivities. And he attracts some unwanted trouble, it happens that his lack of tact troubles his friendships.

His intelligence is not moving towards concrete things, because he is not someone who is materialistic. He prefers his world of ideas, that he will always defend. Original, he likes to disturb the established order, sometimes just to see what effect this will have on others. He looks to the future and progress. One might even say that the past does not exist for him.

In love his attitude is sometimes uncompromising and it can seem cruel. Without intellectual interest, he does not engage himself easily. A stifling and jealous spouse would be the worst punishment that we could inflict on him. As he needs to feel free, he can escape any commitments.

He moves a lot and gets unfortunately only a few concrete results. This is because he has no sense of utility and is not sufficiently self critical to see if what he does is good or not. Yet he is an idealist and he is happy at his work on the side. He likes technology and originality, he likes to work in isolation. He is very sociable, but he prefers to work alone.

Money is not his first goal. Depending on the context, some instability may occur because he can spend without counting and then just get by with almost nothing, as if money did not count. He may leave a job because it no longer motivates him, or more for personal reasons related to someone in particular, or for ideological reasons. Therefore he prefers research to careers in money.

Other points

Sun - Ascendant in declination

Without really noticing, Bruce Willis imposes himself, and without really wanting to, brings out negative attitudes in others. He has difficulty making concessions, and suffers from capitulating. If he can come to realize that his too entire attitude indisposes others, he can become someone more expansive, more generous, more capable of lighting their paths. His ego should be kept in bounds. Humility will make him someone wise.

Moon - Mars in declination

A little gruff, Bruce Willis doesn't like sentimentality. Very independent, he is always on the defensive in some way, at the same time impassioned and a little unstable. He tries to combine emotionalism and combativeness, going sometime to the end of his tether, because he cannot stop. He must take care when he loses his calmness, as this house tends this way. Fortunately, he comes to his senses quickly and has sufficient confidence in himself that he does not feel insecure.

Moon - Part of Fortune in opposition

Bruce Willis is someone who is quite sensitive, and his sentiments and moral are of great importance for his equilibrium. He needs to feel in security, which is easier said than done. One also notes an important role that his mother played in his life, which could explain his behaviour, which is sometimes unstable. He can adapt easily to people and to circumstances.

Venus - Saturn in declination

Bruce Willis is lucid concerning his affective relationships. He knows one has to give, without necessarily getting anything in return, and he is ready for some sacrifices to get what he wants. Clear and honest, he is not very outgoing, since he is always expecting the worst. He makes efforts to adapt, but remains timid until he has proof of the other's sentiments. He prefers to work alone. He doesn't like disorder which disturbs him. He is not outright generous. The more he takes life positively, the more he will be able to profit from what he feels are real values. He knows pertinently how to judge others.

Jupiter - Saturn in trine

Bruce Willis is ambitious. He knows he must prove himself and that nothing is given free. He want to construct and get rich. For this, he is capable of expending a lot of energy, because he wants to succeed, despite the sacrifices. He can be an impressive organiser, realist and solid, who believes in what he does. His attitude is responsible, optimist, decided and equilibrated and this makes him someone who is available and patient, and of constant effort. He has vast knowledge, that he employs correctly, and he doesn't take inconsiderable risks, because he knows how to learn from life's lessons. He knows how to pass on his ideas, he likes to stimulate, Because of this he can go a long way.

Pluto - North Node in declination

The text that follows should be read with caution, as it concerns only a few people. Bruce Willis feels a force in him that leads him to overtake everyone. He can feel all powerful and he wants to direct and to command, be it for a transformation or for a job. He can wish to influence others through his magnetic side. He can manipulate or be manipulated.

Pluto - Midheaven in declination

This Aspect applies to a rare number of persons and it is quite possible that the text below is inappropriate for Bruce Willis. If it concerns him, it indicates that something will be destroyed in his life. Deaths can greatly influence his destiny. A collective pressure can cause some changes. Bruce Willis is under pressure, he has to take a step back and not let himself be impressed. His destiny can drag him along in spite of himself, he does not control everything, he submits to his destiny. He wants to succeed and have some power nevertheless. It is possible that some sort of reconnaissance or degradation appears in his life. He can be irrevocable and pitiless in seeking personal power. He will do everything to maintain his reputation, once he has attained his objectives.

North Node - Midheaven in declination

This Aspect is not easy to live. Bruce Willis can feel that he has little support. He can build a fortress to defend himself. His profession can suffer from a certain vagueness. He can be magnetic, irritable, unhappy, distant or obsessed by power, unless he suffers from this himself. He can know attitudes of fleeing or cause intense passions. The big danger is that he leads head first, and finds himself on the floor, exhausted, because he has not planned anything and his hopes were based on thin air. Bruce Willis can blame himself needlessly or suffer affective extortion.

South Node - Midheaven in declination

The life of Bruce Willis is littered with pitfalls of all kinds. He can be marginal, irritable or distant. One could say that he tries to be different from others. He wants to do what he wants, and not take into account others. This Aspect is difficult to live by, because it creates instabilities on the path of Bruce Willis. He should watch out for the unexpected of all kinds, which makes him feel that he has no support. His insecurity risks sending him to the antipode of what he seeks. A re-look at himself is necessary. Certain persons carrying this Aspect are confronted at moments of their existence with violence, accidents, or psychological harassment. Others try to solidify their position at any price, and in any old way.

Natal Chart of Bruce Willis by Smart-horoscope.com - Part 2

Go back to Natal Chart order Web page

Interpretation of the planets in signs, houses and aspects

Bruce Willis

Saturday 19/03/1955 18:32:00

Idar-Oberstein, Germany

49° N 42' 0" 7° E 19' 0" Dec -01h 00m

Warning

Entering into the heart of the subject, otherwise said, Bruce Willis, the reader finds a part of his life, existing or latent, always personal. These words are not judgements : they propose a thought process. " The stars influence, but are not deciding factors", said Ptolome the alexandian around the year 140. Yes free will exists, even if this is conditioned by the world we live in. He must take advantage of this free will, as it is this that allows him to evolve and to progress. Signs are neither good or bad, they simply mark out the territories on which we evolve. The stars will push him towards a contradiction, and in the end, it is he who decides his future.

Certain techniques used here need a precise hour of birth. In certain cases, five minutes can be sufficient to fix the climate of his existence. If twins can have quite different lives, this shows that a few minutes can bring profound differences, on a case by case basis. He must not take fear at the texts that follow, but take inspiration in one objective, live a full and enriching life.

Phase of the natal lunation

Bruce Willis is under pressure, if he does not pay attention. He would force events, but he lacks flexibility, especially if he feels misunderstood. He has principals and morals and will do everything to support them. They are sometimes more important than people. He needs to feel useful, so he likes to serve a cause or do something important. He has a sense of humour, because this helps to defuse the situation.

Bruce Willis is rather introverted, he lives more in the inside of himself, and is his interior life that is privileged. He can ask himself a good number of questions. His need of the absolute should be relativised for him to feel well.

More subjective, Bruce Willis may be interested in anything that allows him to better understand himself. He can also deny the value of others. Sensitive, he seeks moral values that are solid, which can direct him to something that will give the impression that he is useful to his world. He is seeking a kind of moral guide. His interior verdicts are very powerful and they can influence him.

Planets in the signs and houses

Ascendant

In search of safety and protection, Bruce Willis seeks continuous improvement and a better control of himself. He seeks the best techniques for that. He seeks to avoid this tendency to be dependent on others, and to adapt to every day to daily life. He would like to be able to stand on his own. He may be led to treat or to teach. A perfectionist, he may get lost in details, his fears and anxieties. His mind is critical and demanding and can make him solitary, his need for perfection is often impossible to follow or to satisfy. To manage to calm his doubts, he needs fresh air and a few breaks in bucolic places, that would do him the most good. By accepting more fantasy, he can improve.

Sun

Among the main constituents of his special character, Bruce Willis has not the same sense of identity and reality as everyone else. He is looking for his unity. His character is especially complex to describe, because of its adaptability and flexibility. On one side, a deep respect for tradition and of order are in him, without being excessive. He likes what is posed and secure. On the other hand, sometimes his behaviour is guided by internal and subjective impressions. This illogical behaviour can confuse more than one. Hesitant and sensitive, he may, if unchecked, mix this and intuitions, dreams and ideas. He does not go beyond his world, showing little attention to what is foreign. His needs are paramount, he does not want to know if everyone else follows his own path. He is an egoist which is not bad, but you cannot reason with him. He says yes and ten minutes later no, while being sincere. This lack of decision is unpleasant both for himself and for others. He can absorb the opinions of others to return to them few minutes later.

He absorbs and assimilates everything. He is attracted by transcendental ideas and inspired or visionary. He is very logical when he is motivated, but he can ruin his talent by hiding behind a screen. He believes in preserving himself by becoming enigmatic, elusive and mysterious. Others then have difficulties to understand and then nobody knows what he really wants. He is not for the routine and continuity. He prefers short-term spontaneity.

He is a good conciliator, a dedicated person when he wants to be. In love, his almost mystical sense pushes him to the highest flights and greatest depths. He is ready for anything. He can deceive or be deceived, for there is also a hint of immorality or incoherence in his emotional life. Nice, he is esteemed by those close to him, because he is shaped according to his entourage. One believes that he is a model, but he still retains his profound ideas. His impersonality may hurt.

Moon

Rather focused on ideas, culture, and cerebral intellect, Bruce Willis is not at ease with the world of emotions, romance and sentiments. He often prefers friends to sensual passions which upset him after a certain time if intellect is excluded from the relationship. He needs to estimate his partner intellectually, if it to have a chance of lasting. He is not comfortable with fusional relationships where everything is interwoven. Very independent, a bit selfish on the intimate level, he needs space. He does not like what is traditional and prefers what is marginal, but which causes the thrill of discovery.

More or less submissive to his parents, Bruce Willis has an animated life, without doubt in his later life more than in his youth. This planetary position marks the owners of property. He gives a lot of importance to his home life. Bruce Willis is helped by other women. The links are however quite fragile and unexpected. He likes what is unusual. He is not satisfied with what he knows or what he does. He would like to get to the bottom of things. He understands instinctively public movements, and is a good barometer at this level.

Mercury

Bruce Willis reflects in a more intuitive than analytical way. He does not need to reason logically to think, because he feels things more than he thinks them. He quickly grasps abstract concepts that others are struggling to understand with their intelligence. He is very responsive, sometimes even too much so. He puts himself easily in the place of others. His simplicity may make him vulnerable, he may believe too much of what he is told. It is difficult for him to put into words what he feels.

If Bruce Willis has children, his eldest one will have a character that is curious and communicative. Gifted for educating, counselling and communicating, he can be interested in written expression, or the arts, such as music and literature. Rather expressive, he is gifted in speculation. Knowing how to convince, persuasive in love, he knows how to interpret and tell stories. His contacts with the young are favoured.

Venus

Bruce Willis is free and requires considerable independence in love. He considers the loved ones as friends. He needs friends more than loved ones. Fleeing anyone seeking an attachment, the emotional life is at times volatile, as soon as he feels deprived of his liberty. Jealousy and possessiveness are his two killers of love in him. He does not understand the emotional excesses. He can be detached and impersonal, which may be unsettling for people who love him. He may prefer less conventional people around him.

If nothing contradicts Venus in this sky, and if Bruce Willis has children, one could say that the elder will be an artist, kind and peaceful. He gives them a lot of importance. Charmer and charming, Bruce Willis knows how to invest wisely. His love life is lucky and serene. He receives advantages in relation to his post. If he is sexually satisfied, everything is fine, if not, he is at risk of becoming bored very quickly. He likes pleasures of all kinds. When things are not working out, he can, because he hates conflicts, not take his responsibilities in hand. At worst, he must beware of all dependence and excitation (games, sex, etc.)

Mars

When Bruce Willis moves, it is towards a defined objective, with a tenacity unrivaled. He can remove all obstacles to achieve his ends, with an incredible obstinacy. He seeks efficiency and stability and he is not afraid to put his hand to the task. He does not like to improvise, and he only changes target if the current one is not worth the trouble. He shows that he struggles to build, he wants to be useful, he wants to get to safety. He sometimes confuses obstinacy with his goals. If one believes one can dominate him, one is mistaken. He has a very sensual temperament that he dominates in principle well.

In terms of health, Bruce Willis must be wary of chronic problems of the blood or sexual system. His sexuality is strong and can grow to become adultery, especially if he is dissatisfied. If he has any brothers or sisters, or they may experience conflict or Bruce Willis has with them. He may, if he lets go situations, suffer from a high spending spouse, but it is possible, if the rest of the chart confirms, that the energy he displays is a source of wealth. Money can also be the source of problems. Intuitive, he may be interested in the occult, the strange or death. Big changes come after fights or violent events. He should avoid entering endless struggles.

Jupiter

For Bruce Willis, the value of the family is important. He needs to live in a healthy atmosphere, which is why he can work at home. His imagination, combined with an inventive nature, allows a good expansion. By giving of himself, he will be able to flourish in joy. He is developing in a medium known only abroad.

With Jupiter in the House X, Bruce Willis is proud to take responsibility and to act for a group, never mind his level. He should affirm his image and not pass his time in shirking his obligations. With this position he often has the impression of not having enough time or means to assume the role that he wants to play. He needs to prepare himself and wait for the right moment.

Saturn

More so responsible, Bruce Willis does not necessarily look for responsibilities, but he wants to show others that he is capable. He can be a little possessive. He should not hesitate taking a good look at himself in certain cases. He can want to dominate his reactions and his sentiments, to the point of seeming cold and insensitive. On the inside, the emotions are strong. Lucid, he doesn't let the pressure off.

It is little by little that Bruce Willis is enriched or that he constitutes a heritage. He can hoard without ever spending the fruits of his labour, as if afraid to lack something. Economical or parsimonious, Bruce Willis can get rich, but it will be gradually. He can work a lot for little results. During bad transits of Saturn, money problems can occur. He should not take unnecessary risks, but he already knows this ... He can also be cheap when things do not go well and deny himself everything. Then, as he closes, he will feel very isolated. It is with more confidence that he can detach himself from his inner feeling of not having things.

Uranus

When we speak of Uranus, one should know that this planet drags for seven years the same sign of the Zodiac. The text which follows thus corresponds to millions of people, it is not necessarily representative of Bruce Willis. Susceptible and with sensitivity that is skin deep; he has a tendency to become quickly overloaded. He lives an emotional dissatisfaction, and if he explodes, it is because he revolts against that. He should show himself to be more independent of his milieu.

If this planet acts which is not always the case, Uranus marks in particular, the collective influences, Bruce Willis is very independent on the professional level. He does not accept orders; he needs to be a cavalier alone. He likes avant-garde technologies. He can install systems. He can be dictatorial or assume things that are out of the ordinary.

Neptune

Neptune influences mostly the mainstream community and sign generations than individuals. This planet behind twelve years in the same zodiac sign, indicating the ideal that the community grows. The following corresponds to millions of people, it is not necessarily representative of Bruce Willis. The world is seen as something to idealize, the humanitarian objectives take on importance. The United Nations, who sketch, show visions of the world.

One should be circumspect as to the effects of Neptune. This planet indicates vague collective elements that generate ideals that form ones base. Neptune does not act on the world in a personal way. If Bruce Willis lives this, he doesn't count. Lacking a material sense, he can give away all of his money, or spend it gaily, or the opposite, do everything to have always more. There is an excess, or certain confusion, in the field of possessions and money. The stability of the couple can be perturbed.

Pluto

Pluto influences especially the mainstream community and sign generations more than individuals. This planet is behind fifteen to thirty-two years in the same zodiac sign, indicating the transformation of the community. The following corresponds to millions of people, it is not necessarily representative of Bruce Willis. This phase of history sees dictators come and go, the complex of power is in full swing. Despotism is important, the cult of personality is in full swing.

Pluto is no longer regarded by astronomers as a planet. Therefore, the following is conditional and few people are susceptible to its influence. Friends of Bruce Willis are rather marginal or rebels, friends and enemies at the same time. They may suffer the wrath of Bruce Willis, feelings can change easily. He always finds support. Curious, he tries to discover what lies hidden with others. He may have a progressive spirit and be terribly idealistic.

North Node

Rahu is a complex star; it will amplify the effects of Saturn. However, Rahu increases trends for desire of respectability and prestige, which can give him a simple and modest lifestyle. Rahu take risks in the pursuit of conventional goals of Saturn. Bruce Willis may have something to undo with his father and expect something of a moral teacher. He will have attitudes that are both complex and slightly ironic. He looks hard for power or for an important social position. He may be haunted by this, he has something to fix with the work. He must demonstrate maturity and responsibility. His external image is sometimes not obvious, it must be controlled.

According to the content of the chart , Bruce Willis would be smart, rich and spend his money wisely. The family connections are favourable and he may benefit from marriage. Depending on the position of the moon, Bruce Willis will become very rich and his family life enriched. But if the moon is low, a large interior instability may occur and Bruce Willis can suffer from poverty while his mother would also have concerns. She is not clear, she may behave strangely. In other cases Bruce Willis needs to be the centre of the world and he does not support being anonymous. Sometimes the studies have not been completed. It looks like he is trying to accomplish what his mother could not succeed in doing, and she is certainly related to his behaviour. There is something strange about the family. The social status may be crucial. The notion of a sacrifice of his family to the sacrosanct success may hang in the background. Property deals could be advantageous for him.

South Node

The effect of the Moon on Kethu will be determined depending on the position of the Sign and House of the Moon. However, Kethu dulls the moon, pushing Bruce Willis to be detached and impersonal, devoid of emotions, this coming from his education. He can be afraid of water. You might think he was rejected by his family or that his real family is not here but elsewhere. One could think that his mother has not given enough affection when he was a toddler. He does not have the paternal fibre, unless he cannot start a family. But he is nevertheless capable of looking after the welfare of the children of others. He is often dissatisfied with his condition at home.

With some professional problems of varying severity, Bruce Willis is not really known or recognized by the public, unless he does not feel proud of his profession. The more he will accept his role with humility and acceptance, the more he feels good. Before that, he wants to be acknowledged, he wants praise, but in dodging its requests. His lack of clarity and uncertainty cast doubts about him, unless his responsibilities are uncomfortable and he has the dirty job to do. His hopes of a public achievement do not serve his interests. One may have discouraged him, saying constantly that he is good for nothing, that he will never succeed in life. If his father was weak, he may inherit his shortcomings. Some people in this Astral position may focus excessively on their occupations, over-compensate some gaps and existential emptiness, by their professional field. At worst, some assume the merits, falsify their curriculum vitae or their diplomas, cheating with his studies or inventing a career. The more he is humble and detached at the professional level, the better it goes.

The aspects

Sun - Neptune Quincunx

Bruce Willis is very liberal, imaginative, creative and inspired. He understands things deeply. He has trouble finding a constant rhythm, a little as if he finds it difficult to achieve perfectly all that he undertakes. Precision and attention to detail are missing for success. He doesn't appreciate competition. He is interested by abstract things, for example spiritualism and the occult. Once he understands that he should be clearer, he will be able to construct his world with inspiration and wholeness.

Sun - Ascendant Declination

Without really noticing, Bruce Willis imposes himself, and without really wanting to, brings out negative attitudes in others. He has difficulty making concessions, and suffers from capitulating. If he can come to realize that his too entire attitude indisposes others, he can become someone more expansive, more generous, more capable of lighting their paths. His ego should be kept in bounds. Humility will make him someone wise.

Sun - Midheaven Square

% is a career freak. Very ambitious, he sees everything in big print. He gives enormous importance to his profession, because he wants to succeed and do something important to get ahead of everyone else. He will force himself on others and climb the career ladder, at any price. His conscience is highly developed as is his intelligence. The question is to know just how far he is capable of going... he can show a lack of feelings.

Moon - Mars Declination

A little gruff, Bruce Willis doesn't like sentimentality. Very independent, he is always on the defensive in some way, at the same time impassioned and a little unstable. He tries to combine emotionalism and combativeness, going sometime to the end of his tether, because he cannot stop. He must take care when he loses his calmness, as this house tends this way. Fortunately, he comes to his senses quickly and has sufficient confidence in himself that he does not feel insecure.

Moon - Part of Fortune Opposition

Bruce Willis is someone who is quite sensitive, and his sentiments and moral are of great importance for his equilibrium. He needs to feel in security, which is easier said than done. One also notes an important role that his mother played in his life, which could explain his behaviour, which is sometimes unstable. He can adapt easily to people and to circumstances.

Mercury - North Node Sextile

Bruce Willis is gifted for decoding all that is complicated. Electronics, information technologies do not worry him. He can also take an interest in secret things, in mysteries, astrology, esotericism, etc. In certain cases, Bruce Willis can have something to do with thieves. If this is not the case, he must fight against slander or lies, unless it is a case of promises not being respected. He likes to work in the shadows and must take care to explain himself, because if he underestimates himself, he may have to earn a living with a modest work position. There can be upsets on the work front and a change of function is always possible. He should always look out for bizarre friends.

Mercury - Part of Fortune Quincunx

This House augments the role of Mercury. Intellect, dexterity, flexibility, contacts of all kinds, language and its expression are largely advanced. He likes to write, communicate, is oriented towards commerce, analysis etc. He needs to learn and to think.

Venus - Mars Square

Relations with others are sometimes stormy. It is difficult for him to align his needs with reality. Bruce Willis is ready to do a lot to get what he wants, sometimes at any price. His magnetism can cause as much passion as disorder, all tainted with a certain aggressiveness. All forms of non satisfaction can provoke problematic situations, in particular since he is quite sensitive. By moderating his needs, and in looking less after himself uniquely, he will be able to become more conciliatory and he could thus solve his interior combat. He should respect both himself and others, and then he will be able to reply to all solicitations. Then he will not promote more abuses than he is victim of.

Venus - Saturn Declination

Bruce Willis is lucid concerning his affective relationships. He knows one has to give, without necessarily getting anything in return, and he is ready for some sacrifices to get what he wants. Clear and honest, he is not very outgoing, since he is always expecting the worst. He makes efforts to adapt, but remains timid until he has proof of the other's sentiments. He prefers to work alone. He doesn't like disorder which disturbs him. He is not outright generous. The more he takes life positively, the more he will be able to profit from what he feels are real values. He knows pertinently how to judge others.

Jupiter - Saturn Trine

Bruce Willis is ambitious. He knows he must prove himself and that nothing is given free. He want to construct and get rich. For this, he is capable of expending a lot of energy, because he wants to succeed, despite the sacrifices. He can be an impressive organiser, realist and solid, who believes in what he does. His attitude is responsible, optimist, decided and equilibrated and this makes him someone who is available and patient, and of constant effort. He has vast knowledge, that he employs correctly, and he doesn't take inconsiderable risks, because he knows how to learn from life's lessons. He knows how to pass on his ideas, he likes to stimulate, Because of this he can go a long way.

Neptune - Midheaven

Bruce Willis represents an ideal for others. He likes to make others dream. If one finds him on the air, it is because he has been able to represent himself as a model for others, through his acts. Bruce Willis likes to be useful. He undertakes things on a large scale and he has some or more chance that helps him. One can adulate him, without him knowing why. Some deceit is to be feared. He must beware of flattering.

Pluto - North Node Declination

The text that follows should be read with caution, as it concerns only a few people. Bruce Willis feels a force in him that leads him to overtake everyone. He can feel all powerful and he wants to direct and to command, be it for a transformation or for a job. He can wish to influence others through his magnetic side. He can manipulate or be manipulated.

Pluto - Midheaven Declination

This Aspect applies to a rare number of persons and it is quite possible that the text below is inappropriate for Bruce Willis. If it concerns him, it indicates that something will be destroyed in his life. Deaths can greatly influence his destiny. A collective pressure can cause some changes. Bruce Willis is under pressure, he has to take a step back and not let himself be impressed. His destiny can drag him along in spite of himself, he does not control everything, he submits to his destiny. He wants to succeed and have some power nevertheless. It is possible that some sort of reconnaissance or degradation appears in his life. He can be irrevocable and pitiless in seeking personal power. He will do everything to maintain his reputation, once he has attained his objectives.

North Node - Part of Fortune Quincunx

Something, coming from his maternal origin, can take place and change his course of existence. He has difficulty relaxing. His greed can play games with him. He can be too serious or too introverted.

North Node - Midheaven Declination

This Aspect is not easy to live. Bruce Willis can feel that he has little support. He can build a fortress to defend himself. His profession can suffer from a certain vagueness. He can be magnetic, irritable, unhappy, distant or obsessed by power, unless he suffers from this himself. He can know attitudes of fleeing or cause intense passions. The big danger is that he leads head first, and finds himself on the floor, exhausted, because he has not planned anything and his hopes were based on thin air. Bruce Willis can blame himself needlessly or suffer affective extortion.

Karmic interpretation for Bruce Willis

Bruce Willis

Saturday 19/03/1955 18:32:00

Idar-Oberstein, Germany

49° N 42' 0" 7° E 19' 0" Dec -01h 00m

Warning

As soon as it touches the karma, a little voice of guilt creeps in. All karmic interpretations take on the chorus and even seem to know better than the person concerned what to do or not to do.

Popular texts speaking of karma are usually superficial in nature. The text below speaks primarily of what life awaits Bruce Willis instead of past mistakes that should be repaired under the penalty of "karmic punishment".

While we do not forgive, we remain bound to the past, and in this sense he is chained up. When we forgive, it allows oneself to live peacefully the present without the ulterior motives that pollute this present.

Above all, we must admit that life is lived « here and now » and not « there and elsewhere ». It is in assuming our present lives that we will flourish. Every life is constructed by winning one's own esteem, and making oneself prouder each day.

The planet Sun

Throughout his life, Bruce Willis will seek recognition of his personal worth. For this, he will be entitled to the gift of having a good overview of situations. He will be intelligent. It is in building and globalizing that he will do best. He is not made for subordinate roles, but to lead, if only himself. The more he will be confident, the better he will survive. He needs to be the focal point of situations so as not to depend on anyone. He hates to depend on anyone. For him, only what comes from a confrontation of equals is worthwhile.

He seeks nobility and dignity. He is very sensitive to lies and cover-ups, manipulations and corruptions that seem to him to be vulgar things. For him, assertive and shining by his own qualities are essential. He wants to be able to look in the mirror and be proud of himself.

The purpose of his existence is to shine and rise to the heights by his natural talents.

The relational world offers Bruce Willis all the opportunities to grow his conscience. It is his relational behaviour that serves as his apprenticeship. Marriage, unions of all kinds, or associates allow him this.